What's most frustrating about using EHRs?

Documentation takes too long.

Relevant clinical information is hard to find.

As these results show, hospitals must invest in a solution that improves the speed of documentation, while also integrating into existing HIS technologies and clinical workflows. An advanced solution alleviates providers' frustrations because it works the way doctors think, delivering contextual patient data at the point of care for optimal outcomes.

Why wait? Provide clinicians with the solution that allows them to focus on what they do best – providing excellent patient care. Visit www.medicomp.com.
